Despite the short notice given, library closing announcements were able to be advertised on our facebook page and LCATV’s public announcements; in the Milton Independent and school newsletter last week. A temporary book drop bin has been placed in the lobby for returns.

Removing the books and shelves from against the walls went smoothly and quickly last Thursday. Staff and volunteers worked together to move books; Dustin and Jamie moved the shelves. Two homeschool families, the Kelms and the Zeiglers, helped in the morning with volunteers, Emily Williams and Annette Schwartz, helping in the afternoon. Adult non-fiction books were back in place by Friday.

Yesterday, the 6th, and today, the inner temporary walls were built. Dustin has to put up the shelving units against the new walls before staff and volunteers come in on Wed. to re-shelve the remaining books.
The library's facebook page is chronicling the progress of the library expansion. Check out our groundbreaking picture.
